

I do not like the idea of one corp owing all or many of the news voices in any one market. The broader the base of opinions the better informed the public will be and the better decisions we the public can and will make.